Preface

THIS INDEX to the Abraham Lincoln Papers is a direct result of Public Law 85-147, dated August 16, 1957, the object of which is to inspire informed patriotism, to provide greater security for the original manuscripts, and to make the Lincoln and other Presidential papers more accessible and useful to scholars and other interested persons. The law authorizes and directs the Librarian of Congress to arrange, microfilm, and index the papers of the 23 Presidents whose manuscripts are in the Library. An appropriation to carry out the provisions of the law was approved on July 31, 1958, and operations began on August 25.

A reedited microfilm of the Lincoln Papers superseding one that had been made in 1947, became available in December 1959. Positive copies of the film may be purchased from the Chief, Photoduplication Service, Library of Congress, Washington 25, D.C. A positive print is available for interlibrary loan through the Chief, Loan Division, Library of Congress.

Index to the Abraham Lincoln Papers

Provenance

THE STORY of the Lincoln Papers has often been told, but details vary—sometimes astonishingly. The most complete account appears in David C. Mearns, The Lincoln Papers (Garden City, N.Y., 1948), I, 3–136. An article by the same author which appeared in the December 1947 issue of the Abraham Lincoln Quarterly contains the substance of the story and is reproduced in part in the following pages.¹

To what was said 13 years ago a few facts may be added. A comprehensive edition of Lincoln's Collected Works was issued after much labor by a devoted editor and staff.² Many other scholars have studied the documents, and all may now benefit by their findings.

A manuscript acquired by the Library of Congress in 1958 added this new fact: Justice David Davis wrote to Edward McPherson, Clerk of the House of Representatives, on June 22, 1866, stating that the papers found on President Lincoln's person were sealed by Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War.³ Later the papers were opened in Justice Davis' presence. Of this he wrote:

"My distinct recollection is that all the papers of public importance were retained by Mr. Stanton & either deposited in the War or State Depts. I think copies were furnished me & handed to Mr. Nicolay who packed them together with Mr. Lincoln's private papers in secure boxes. These boxes were sent by the Secy of War under guard to Bloomington Illinois, my residence & are now in the vault of the National Bank of Bloomington. They are sealed & when they will be opened & examined has not yet been determined."

The location of the original documents that were withheld and of the copies is not now known. The original letter by Justice Davis has been restored to the McPherson Papers in the Library's Manuscript Division.

In 1959 the microfilm and the index of the Lincoln Papers which had been prepared in 1947 were re-examined. Certain omissions were found in the microfilm—primarily pages with dockets or notations or endorsements or other contemporary writing. The dates assigned to a number of documents needed correction in the light of later research. In addition, some Lincoln documents which had been unaccountably retained by John G. Nicolay were restored to the President's papers. These have been arranged as "Series Two" to assure their identification. Miscellaneous acquisitions were arranged in a third and final series. Three reels (95, 96, and 97) contain the second and third series.

This index has been prepared to include the materials in the second and third series, to reflect recent research, and to conform to the style of other Presidential Papers indexes published by the Library of Congress.

There are 14,724 pieces in the Lincoln Papers. The whole collection is now in 194 volumes and 3 manuscript boxes.

The Library began in 1940 to formulate plans which would ensure the safety of its unique and particularly prized materials. Following the attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, and the declaration of war on the United States by Germany a few days later, Archibald MacLeish, then Librarian, directed the evacuation of the specially selected materials according to plan.⁴

The Lincoln Papers, along with other materials, were evacuated from the Library on December 29, 1941, under the supervision of Alvin W. Kremer, Keeper of the Collections, to the Alderman Library of the University of Virginia at Charlottesville. On August 14, 1944, they were returned to the Library. Lincoln's second inaugural address and two drafts of the Gettysburg Address, together with certain other "top treasures," were separately evacuated to Fort Knox, Kentucky.⁵ They were returned in September 1944. No item was lost or damaged in the vast evacuation program. Fortunately Washington was not attacked, but the Library of Congress in 1941 was prepared for eventualities as it had not been in 1814.

In anticipation of the day when the Lincoln Papers could be opened, and in accordance with the terms of the gift, Dr. St. George L. Sioussat, Chief of the Manuscript Division, commissioned Dr. C. Percy Powell and Mrs. Helen D. Bullock to arrange and index the manuscripts. They and all others who assisted in any way in these tasks as well as in the repair, mounting, microfilming, and binding were enjoined to complete secrecy. When the collection was opened to the public just after midnight on July 26, 1947, the papers were chronologically organized, attractively bound, indexed, and microfilmed. The originals have since been available for use under the standard conditions which govern the use of manuscripts.

A succinct account of the peregrinations of the papers from 1865 to 1923 is contained in the passages from Mr. Mearns' article previously alluded to:

"Immediately after the assassination, Robert Lincoln asked Associate Justice David Davis to undertake the administration of the estate. The Judge came on from Chicago, gathered up bonds, securities, and outstanding household accounts, and urged the prompt removal of the files. They were packed by Nicolay and Colonel Hay, and within a fortnight were secured within the vault of the National Bank at Bloomington. The Judge, for reasons not yet discovered, experienced a sense of relief in the knowledge that they were safely out of Washington, although he did mention his fears lest they fall into dangerous hands. It is barely possible that he infected Robert Lincoln with his forebodings, for Robert Lincoln spoke of some which 'would be damaging to men now living.' That was on April 27th, 1865; on June 6th he wrote that 'the papers relating to the Administration' were 'in such a confused state' that they could not then 'be got at.' They seem to have remained subject to the Judge's order until 1874 when Robert Lincoln directed that they be sent to Mr. Nicolay, in Washington, for use in the preparation of the authorized biography of his father. They were still in Mr. Nicolay's custody when he died in 1901 and appear to have been stored thereafter in the State Department with the approval of Secretary Hay. When Hay died in 1905, Robert Lincoln took them to Chicago, where for a time they were housed in his office in the Pullman Building and, later, in his safe deposit. When Robert Lincoln retired and came to Washington to live he kept the papers in his Georgetown home in winter, and in summer they were shipped to his country house in Manchester, Vermont. In the spring of 1919, probably as an expression of gratitude to the government for the construction of the Lincoln Memorial, and under the misapprehension that that temple was nearly completed, Robert Lincoln placed the papers in the Library of Congress on condition that their presence in the institution should not be made known.

On January 23rd, 1923, he conveyed them to the Library by deed of gift, with the stipulation that they should be withheld from 'official or public inspection or private view' until after the expiration of twenty-one years from the date of his death.⁶ He died July 26th 1926."

Searchers interested in Abraham Lincoln and his times may wish to examine the personal papers listed below. These collections contain a varying number of letters written by President Lincoln, retained copies of letters written to him, and letters or other documents referring to him.

How to Use This Index

The index to the Abraham Lincoln Papers is designed primarily as a means of ascertaining what documents exist in these papers and where they may be found in the microfilm. It is essentially a name index, listing names of writers and recipients of letters, first alphabetically and then chronologically when the same name appears more than once. It is not a subject index, but materials such as messages, briefs, and speeches of Lincoln are cross-indexed under these subject headings as well as under the name of the writer. Some miscellaneous items, for which no name appears, are listed under a subject title.

To find a document or furnish a reference, note first the mounting-sheet number, then turn to the document with that mounting-sheet number (found in the lower left-hand corner of the first recto page) in the appropriate series. The reel list begins on page viii and the microfilm box labels show these numbers. In a few cases a mounting-sheet number is followed by a letter. The A or other letters do not always appear in the number column. Number 22022, for example, might represent the document with that number, or 22022A and 22022B, which follow it.

This index was produced by the use of key-punched cards which were sorted and printed mechanically. The technique permitted a number of economies but imposed in return a few limitations. Some of the paraphernalia normally found in indexes and calendars had to be abandoned. Many of the peculiarities—for example, the use of columns—of this index are illustrated in the following sequence of mock entries:

The names of correspondents—that is writers of letters to Lincoln or persons addressed by him, including organizations and governmental agencies—are arranged alphabetically as in column one. A letter not written by or to Lincoln is indexed both by writer and recipient, as in the first and third samples. Any correspondence on behalf of an organization, public or private, is indexed under the name of the organization rather than the name of the writer, as in the twelfth entry: the Republican National Committee is indexed rather than the name of the secretary who would have signed the letter. Such corporate entries if local in scope, are indexed under their geographical locations, as in the fourth entry. Except for the largest cities, the name of the town or county is followed by the abbreviated State name. If the writer of an unsigned letter cannot be identified, the entry is indexed under the word UNKNOWN in its proper alphabetical position, as in the thirteenth example. Lincoln's name is not listed in the index column except in cases where he is the author of a document, such as a message to Congress. The names of other Presidents appear in full, as in the second entry.

Since space is limited in the writer-recipient column, the second name appearing in this column, usually following "to" or "from," is frequently given in a shortened or abbreviated form. In such cases the second name (except Lincoln's name) is also entered fully in the normal alphabetical order. For example, in the first entry of the sample index, the name given as D Q BURKE appears later as BURKE DAVID Q. When lack of space does not permit use of the full name for an indexed item, a short form must be used, as in sample entries five through eight, but the full name is given separately in a cross reference, as in the ninth sample entry. All titles—civil, military, ecclesiastical, hereditary, honorary, and others, except "Miss" and "Mrs.,"—are omitted from main entries.

The date column calls for little comment beyond emphasizing what has already been mentioned, i.e., when there are two or more entries for a single name in this index, they are arranged chronologically regardless of the person addressed or the nature of the document. Abbreviations for the names of the months have been reduced to two letters.

The particular attention of the user is invited to the fact that the number of pages for an item includes every page which has any writing. A page by this definition includes envelopes or cover sheets, docket entries, endorsements of one or more words, file numbers, and similar writing. Only notations made by the Library of Congress are excluded from the page count.

The final or addenda column of the index has been used as a "catch-all" for data which cannot be fitted into the closely calculated spacing of the main entry. Documents other than letters are, in each instance, identified in this column, occasionally by content (as in the fourth entry) but more often by form (as in samples six, ten, and fourteen). Enclosures and covering letters are indicated by the abbreviation EN followed by the pertinent mounting-sheet number or numbers.

For information concerning the series arrangement, see the description which appears on page 122 and the reel list which follows.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PAPERS

The papers of Abraham Lincoln (1809-1865), Congressman and President of the United States, were presented to the Library of Congress in 1923 by his son, Robert Todd Lincoln. The terms of the gift specified that the papers were not to be opened to the public until 21 years after the donor's death. When the papers were opened, after the specified time had elapsed, on July 26, 1947, they had been repaired, bound, indexed, and microfilmed. Basically the microfilm reproduction which follows is that prepared in 1947. The copy has been perfected in 1959 in the interest of completeness and additions have been made of the Lincoln items found in the John G. Nicolay Papers and of miscellaneous items acquired from other sources. A complete list of accessions is appended to this statement.

The Lincoln Papers are in three series:

Series 1. General Correspondence and Related Documents. 1833-1916. 194 volumes. This series consists of the manuscripts inherited by Robert Todd Lincoln which have been designated "The Robert Todd Lincoln Collection of the Papers of Abraham Lincoln." The arrangement of the manuscripts is chronological. The mounting sheet number which appears in the lower left-hand corner of recto pages with writing, is, however, the key to finding a particular document on the microfilm reproduction. When changes in the arrangement have been required or when new and corrected dates have been assigned, an errata sheet following this statement gives the pertinent data for a particular reel.

Series 2. Additional Correspondence. 1858-1865.

One manuscript box. The correspondence in this series was retained by John G. Nicolay, President Lincoln's secretary, and remained with the Nicolay Papers (received by the Library in 1947) until August 1959, when it was removed and reincorporated with the Lincoln Papers. Arranged chronologically.

Series 3. Miscellaneous. 1837-1897. One manuscript box. Single or small numbers of manuscripts which have been acquired by the Library of Congress from a variety of sources. Arranged chronologically.

The user is cautioned that the publication of the contents of this microfilm may be construed as constituting a violation of literary property rights. These rights derive from the principle of common law that the writer of an unpublished letter or other manuscript has the sole right to publish the contents thereof, unless he affirmatively parts with the right; the right descends to his legal heirs regardless of the ownership of the physical manuscript itself. It is the responsibility of an author or his publisher to secure the permission of the owner of the literary property rights in unpublished writings.

STATEMENT OF THE LIBRARIAN OF CONGRESS

The following statement on the Presidential Papers Program appears on the microfilm of each group of papers:

The personal papers of 23 Presidents of the United States are in the Library of Congress. Under an Act of Congress (Public Law 85-147) approved August 16, 1957, the Librarian of Congress was directed to arrange, microfilm, and index these papers. The purpose of the legislation was to provide greater security through the wide distribution of copies of the microfilm and to facilitate the use of the papers by scholars and others. An appropriation for this work was made in August 1958, and the project was begun the same month. Presidents whose papers are in the Library are:

George Washington	James K. Polk	Chester A. Arthur
Thomas Jefferson	Zachary Taylor	Grover Cleveland
James Madison	Franklin Pierce	Benjamin Harrison
James Monroe	Abraham Lincoln	William McKinley
Andrew Jackson	Andrew Johnson	Theodore Roosevelt
Martin Van Buren	Ulysses S. Grant	William H. Taft
William H. Harrison	James A. Garfield	Woodrow Wilson
John Tyler		Calvin Coolidge

The size and complexity of the groups of Presidential papers vary greatly. One group of Presidential papers contains fewer than 1,000 documents and is arranged in a simple chronological order. Another contains about 500,000 documents and will require division into a number of series with different internal arrangements. A specific statement about each group of Presidential papers follows this general statement.

The user is advised that indexes (largely of correspondents in the papers) will be prepared and published in book form. Announcements concerning the availability of the indexes as well as of microfilms of other groups of Presidential papers will be made from time to time. Inquiry may be made of the Chief of the Manuscript Division concerning future publication plans.

Librarian of Congress.
